

Mercer Grand Jury Considers Slaying Charges

MERCER, Pa., March 7.—(INS)—Behind closed doors, the Mercer county grand jury today deliberated on evidence which the state has gathered in an attempt to hold blame for the slaying of Mrs. Helen Wilson, 48, wife of the owner, Wilson was on a fishing trip in Canada when the triple tragedy occurred.

The 20-year-old farm girl has already pleaded "not guilty" at a preliminary hearing, but the commonwealth seeks to indict her in the slaying of Mrs. Wilson, 48, wife of the owner, Wilson was on a fishing trip in Canada when the triple tragedy occurred.

The grand jury was also to consider Wilson's case, who is charged with being an absconding witness.

State Department Staff Is Too Small

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., in testimony made public today, warned that the State department is seriously understaffed to handle increasing responsibilities in the postwar period.

"We do not have the staff to carry out the plans this government must develop in order to discharge our responsibilities in the international situation," Stettinius told the House Appropriations committee.

"The department is undermined to a point that is somewhat alarming to me."

He called for addition of 596 men at an annual cost of one million 727 thousand dollars to assume duties which he said will be dumped in the State department's lap as the war agencies are disbanded.

NAZIS TO RENEW U-BOAT WARFARE

at a new test, pitting his new submarines against vast United Nations convoys.

Doenitz said Alexander is having strong concrete shelters constructed at his operational bases to guard against aerial attacks.

The enemy, he said, has "at least as many" U-boats as he had at the beginning of 1943—and there is not the slightest evidence that he has abandoned his submarine campaign.

Expect Distant Attacks

"We must expect attacks as far distant as the Indian ocean, by greatly improved U-boats," Alexander said.

He also disclosed that losses by "British and European" navies in the Mediterranean, since the start of the Sicilian campaign, include two cruisers, one minelayer, ten destroyers, two submarines and ten minor warships.

In his review of the battle of the Atlantic, Alexander said that in 1941 one out of every 181 allied ships venturing into the submarine-infested ocean was lost.

In 1942, he said, only one was lost out of every 233, while the figure for 1943 was one out of 344. But, he told Commons, during the last half of the year, less than one ship out of every 1,000 that sailed the Atlantic in convoys was lost.

Alexander said that the turning point was during the few days that followed March 20, 1943, when the tide was fought "which might well be counted among the decisive maritime actions of history."

Merchant shipping losses, he added, changed "with a suddenness which it is hardly possible to exaggerate."

Sometimes, he told Commons, the Germans used as many as 30 U-boats against one convoy. But they received such a battering that they virtually abandoned the north Atlantic for several months.

Some times, he told Commons, the Germans used as many as 30 U-boats against one convoy. But they received such a battering that they virtually abandoned the north Atlantic for several months.

Chartered recently by the state, the Castle Engineering Company of New Castle is preparing to get under way as quickly as possible it was announced today by Daniel H. Treloar, Jr., president of the new company.

The company has leased the Arena on Grove street and will install machinery for the manufacture of war essentials, Mr. Treloar said. When the plant is in full production it is anticipated that about 80 employees will be used, most of them women.

The plant will be under the supervision of Mr. Treloar.

REVEAL YANKS SHOT DOWN 176 GERMAN PLANES

tored "Forts" and "Libs" across occupied Europe for the pulverizing blow at Berlin accounted for 83 more enemy aircraft.

A record number of 68 of the U. S. bombers failed to return, exceeding the loss of 60 four-motored aircraft in the Oct. 14 raid on Schweinfurt and the January 11 assault on Brunswick.

"Divisions" of bombers staged the onslaught, headquarters of the U. S. strategic airforce announced.

American fighters blasted 83 enemy fighters cut off the sky to beat their February 22 figure of 61 Halberstadt, the previous record. Eleven U. S. fighters failed to return making our total loss 79—97 less than the enemy.

Factories Are Hit

In the Berlin raid yesterday, factories, airfields and other installations in metropolitan Berlin were hit when the vast armada swept over the city.

The Daily Telegraph estimated that the Fortresses alone streamed out for 15 miles, and flew over Berlin for a half hour.

Unlike Saturday's raid by one formation of Fortresses, when aerial opposition from the Nazis was negligible, the enemy darkened the sky with his fighter interceptors yesterday. The Nazis met the American aircraft before they reached the target, fought them over Berlin and trailed them to the English channel in a series of running fights.

The U. S. Bombers were escorted by "very large" formations of fighters, of all descriptions, including hundreds of Mustangs, Lightnings and Thunderbolts of the eighth U. S. airforce; Thunderbolts and Mustangs of the ninth airforce, and fighters from RAF, dominion and allied forces.

Headquarters admitted that enemy opposition was heavy throughout the mission, but pointed out that the bomber force engaged the Nazis with "great success."

JAP FLEET HIDES DECLARES NIMITZ

may have been forced to withdraw from its base at Truk because of a lack of fuel.

Utmost Confidence

"We can now face the future with utmost confidence," the admiral added.

He warned, however, that the United States could expect increased activity by enemy submarines as our supply lines become more and more exposed.

"We are not finished with the Jap submarine by any means," Nimitz said. He also added it was very reasonable to expect that their counter measures against American submarines would become more effective as time goes on.

"Are you ready to take on the Jap fleet in a showdown fight?" a reporter asked.

"Yes," Nimitz replied.

The admiral was asked if he would care to comment on the fact the Japs did not put up much of a fight to protect their important bases at Truk and Saipan.

Need China Coast Bases

"I would rather characterize it this way—that they put up the best fight they could with what they had," Nimitz replied.

The admiral was asked if he still believed that the Allies must have bases on the Chinese coast before they could begin pounding the Japanese home islands.

"We must have them in order to pound effectively," Nimitz countered. "It is always possible to attack objectives in Japan from carriers but as we have learned from the bombings in Europe it takes a great weight of explosives to produce any considerable effect. Our carrier planes are not adapted to carry heavy loads against land objectives."

The admiral admitted that in addition to Kwajalein and Eniwetok, American forces also occupied the atoll of Majuro in the Marshalls.

up," he added, "you'll strike a very hard blow at German morale the raid caused a tremendous traffic dislocation, and I saw huge fires and clouds of black smoke in eastern and northern Berlin."

Another eyewitness told the Daily Mail that he thought the Allies would "be able to knock Berlin out almost completely by the end of this month."

"Everyone in the capital," he said, "is dazed and gloomy. It is within the power of the Allied planes to paralyze the whole city providing day and night hammering is kept up."

in New Castle early this spring of summer. There are numerous mud-travelled streets in the city that are badly in need of resurfacing, not only for traffic but for the appearance of the city as a whole.

Apparently the cross word puzzle fans are still legion in this district. Through some error in the mechanical department of The News, yesterday the daily crossword puzzle missed the edition. The News has been busy today answering phone calls as to what happened to it, and whether or not it had been discontinued. There is no intention of discontinuing the puzzle.

Stocking of trout streams in Lawrence county for the approaching season is already under way. There will probably be the smallest number of fishermen along the streams this spring in many years, due to the large number of fishermen now serving in the armed forces, and the demands of war production schedules.

When it comes to helping with a vital phase of the war effort, daily 175 Americans here in New Castle are there, giving a pint of their blood through the Red Cross Blood Donor center at the First Presbyterian church. The unit will end a two-week stay here on Saturday, by which time every ounce of blood given by nearly 2,000 donors will have been processed into plasma that will be sent to army and navy hospitals and theaters of war, where plasma transfusions daily save the lives of thousands of wounded service men. To make an appointment to give your pint of blood on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday, phone 3084.

Boosts MacArthur

WASHINGTON, March 7.—That steady, unrelenting sound heard on Capitol Hill is the drum which Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan is beating for General MacArthur. He's not troubling about delegates or organization. He just goes on hammering away on the theme of the inevitability of MacArthur's candidacy for President.

And the funny thing is he really believes that his hero is going to get the Republican nomination. Arthur Vandenberg has some of the same romantic hero-worship which is part of Douglas MacArthur. He believes in Destiny with a capital D.

The senator from Michigan shares with the general a love of purple prose. That may be one reason he is such a MacArthur fan—an admiration for the highly colored rhetoric that the general gives off in moments of emotion. It even creeps into the MacArthur communiqués.

But Vandenberg can advance a reason grounded in practical politics, too. He says that the voters this fall will be voting for a commander-in-chief. Ten million mothers and fathers will be thinking of the man who will determine the destinies of their children. If the Republicans nominate an eminent civilian with no war record, he will inevitably compare unfavorably with Roosevelt and Roosevelt's long record of experience.

Looks To Future
The cynical, sentimental senator from Michigan is looking way ahead into the future. In nominating MacArthur, he says, the GOP would be out in front of a trend. In a recent magazine article, he wrote: "I venture the prediction that, when 10,000,000 of our fighting sons are home again, every President for two generations to come will have been a stalwart figure from such a prophecy. I think it is sound democracy. Who has better earned the right? Who has better served the republic? Who better knows what America is worth? In my view, MacArthur is richly endowed to be the monitor in this regard."

History, of course, is behind Vandenberg's prophecy. The veterans of the Civil war elected General Grant in 1868. And for nearly 20 years afterwards, the Grand Army of the Republic swung the balance in national elections.

Vandenberg is well aware that Grant is an unhappy example. Grant's pathetic failure in the White House has been cited often by those who want to stop the MacArthur-for-President move. As congressional exhibits, the senator from Michigan offers General Washington and General Jackson.

Biggest Handicap
MacArthur's biggest handicap is the fact that he has been out of the country since 1935. At the request of the Philippine government he went out to organize the Philippine army after he had completed his tour of duty—extended by President Roosevelt beyond the normal term—as chief of staff here in Washington.

For nearly a decade—one of the most crowded and eventful ten years in American history—MacArthur has had everything at second hand. He cannot know the temper of the masses of American people. Dealing with humor, being on an ordinary level has never been easy for the general in any event.

Vandenberg tries to turn the handicap into an advantage. He says that MacArthur would be free of the factional prejudices that beset the country. He could unify America as could no one else.

Political Appeal
Buttressing all these fine arguments is Van's conviction of MacArthur's 20-karat political appeal. It is his firm conviction that the general would crack the Solid South.

Twelve dissident Democratic senators from southern states are said to have met in a private session in the capital with James A. Farley, sometime ago. After two hours of talk, they are reported to have agreed that only MacArthur could make an impression in the south in a contest with FDR. The south likes a hero.

To practical politicians, Vandenberg's crusade is bound to seem romantic, foolishly romantic. MacArthur, say these gentlemen, has no organization. Many southern delegates will vote for him on the first or second ballot, but that will last only until they find who has the strength. There'll be no one to hold them then.

Van, too, knows all this. He knows his man hasn't much chance if ordinary political considerations dominate the conclave in June. He's betting that eventually shopworn politics will go out the window and the delegates will stampede for the lonely general in the Pacific.

Hints On Etiquette

When you are introduced to a stranger or he is introduced to you, do not indifferently say, "How do you do," and nothing more. Be cordial and make him feel it is a pleasure to meet him.

ENEMIES

"Be kind to your enemies, remember you made them."

But, why stop to bother about them at all?

You've made enemies of course. We all have and will continue to do so—I hope—because if you do not keep on making them, you are at the finish line.

Every successful man is hated by somebody. Success is not achieved in any other way. So take the enemies you have made as part of the game.

You meet a nice girl. You think she is exceptional, outstanding, worthwhile. Well, if you do so, does some other eligible, or maybe not so eligible perhaps, young man. Anyhow, if you succeed in winning her, the chances are that one or two other men who wanted her, become your enemies.

Every time you achieve a real business success, there are others who wanted to do the same thing, you succeeded in doing but didn't quite make it. Result: they resent your winning... this resentment becomes enmity and you have another enemy or so.

Remember the higher you climb, the more popular you become. There are others who dislike you not for what you are but because of what they are not.

One of the most certain signs that you are succeeding is the certain sure criticism that comes from smaller minds.

That's a dandy watch, Scotty. Where'd you get it?

Scotty didn't reply right away but upon being told by the surgeon that his chances of getting well were pretty slim, he decided to confess.

"I took a Heine prisoner," said he, "wearing my watch, and I asked him 'Will ye gie me it?' He shook his head. 'Lekit him a second one, and he shook his head again. 'For the third and last time as a gentleman,' I says, 'will ye gie me the watch?' But still Heine shook his head."

"But," insisted the surgeon, "how did you finally get the watch?"

"Ah, well," replied Scotty, "after that, I simply inherited it."

Question: I belong to two clubs. Recently when I was in the hospital flowers were sent to me by each. Several of my friends brought gifts to me when they came to see me. Must I write thank you notes for all of these even those presented to me personally? If I must write to the club to whom they were presented, how do I address them?

Answer: You need not write notes to those who presented gifts personally, if you thanked them personally. Write a note of thanks to each club addressing your letter to the secretary.

Great Game Of Politics

The Shifting Negro Vote

WASHINGTON, March 7. THE MOST interesting thing about the by-election last week in New York city was not the continued Republican trend which almost beat the Democratic candidate in an overwhelmingly Democratic district, but the sharp shift of the heavy Negro vote in two Harlem wards. The public generally, perhaps, has not grasped the significance of this, but there isn't a practical politician in either party who missed it.

IT PROMPTLY brought New York Democratic leaders to Washington, where they warned Mr. Roosevelt's political advisers that unless effective steps to check the trend are taken the result easily might be the loss of the State's electoral vote. They pointed out that these two wards, which on last Tuesday went 2 to 1 for the Republican candidate, voted 8 to 1 for Mr. Roosevelt in 1940. And they further expressed the conviction that this shift of the Negro vote is national, not local, citing a number of recent election figures to sustain it.

THE QUESTION is whether the undisputed tendency of the Negro voter to return to his Republican "home" can be halted by Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy. No understanding politician will minimize the importance of the answer to that question. In New York, there are approximately 250,000 Negro voters in Pennsylvania even more.

In New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Missouri, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan the number of Negroes is sufficient to give them balance of power in any close election. There are, thus, eleven States where this is true and they are the indispensable States with the largest electoral votes. In addition, the Negro group is not only the largest voting group in the country, but it votes more nearly as a unit than any other racial, religious or economic group.

Considering these things it is not hard to understand why the national political leaders should be deeply concerned over the vote in those two Harlem wards.

IT IS useful to understand one or two other things about the Negro vote. Distinctly it is not a vote which is affected by either foreign or domestic issues. It is not a vote that concerns itself much with anything except the attitude of parties and candidates toward its group. It measures that attitude by the recognition it received politically, socially, economically. Certainly, it has received more recognition along all three lines from the Roosevelt administration than from any previous one, Democratic or Republican.

Why then, it is asked, should there now be a diminution in Roosevelt ardor upon the part of Negro leaders, Negro newspapers and the rank and file of the Negro vote? There are a number of reasons.

ONE IS resentment among Negroes over alleged segregation and discrimination in the armed forces. They have looked to Mr. Roosevelt to stop that and he has not done so. Another is discrimination against Negroes by some labor unions and (Continued on Next Page)

THE PRESIDENT is the center of the nation. Its members come fresh from the people. Its voice is the voice of the people. In its halls have been the things that have made America the country it is and on political destinies are still in its hands. They must remain in its hands if America is to remain free.

The Congress, regarded as an institution, is the hope of democracy and the hope of the nation. Without the check it gives to the executive branch the president might govern as a despot. Weaken its powers, as the president has tried to do, and we have not a democracy but a despotism.

However, one swallow does not make a summer day. One outburst, such as the Barkley-led rebellion does not restore the Congress to its copy book place in the nation. The Congress will do far better for its own good and for the people if it recognizes that it earnestly asks itself why he president has regarded it so lightly. Spasmodic rebellions are not the way to justify its worth or value. A one-act play is not enough.

The events of the past week in the capital were not merely a variety show. They were a warning.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

NUTRITIONAL HEADS OF CHARGE FOR CHILDREN

Parents and teachers of elementary school children need to work together to help guarantee that these children may have the proper diet, especially for the duration of the school year.

I wish every parent and elementary teacher would write a post card to the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C., and ask for the "Nutrition Education Series Pamphlet No. 1." It is a short, simple, and easy to read booklet which contains information about diets for school children of the elementary age. Unfortunately, many parents who are very eager to keep up to the minute on foods for the baby and young child, grow careless of this child's diet when he enters school.

Here let me relay some facts from this booklet concerning essential foods and their food values.

1. Green and yellow vegetables, some raw, some cooked or canned; 1 serving. Green and yellow vegetables are important sources of vitamin A. Vegetables with dark green leaves, such as chard, spinach, greens, kale, watercress and spinach are important sources of iron, vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin. Mustard, turnip and collard greens and beans are good sources of calcium.

2. Oranges, lemons, grapefruit, or raw cabbage or salad greens; 1 serving. Tomatoes, raw cabbage, green peppers and leafy vegetables are good sources of ascorbic acid. Citrus fruits, strawberries, cantaloupe, musk melon, rhubarb, pineapple, cherries and raspberries also provide ascorbic acid.

3. Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits, raw, dried, cooked or canned; 1 serving of potatoes, 1 serving of other vegetables and fruits.

Potatoes are a low-cost energy food which are a good source of iron, ascorbic acid, niacin, and thiamine. Sweet potatoes are a rich source of vitamin A. Fruits provide some iron, thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin. Fruits yellow in color provide vitamin A. Dried fruits such as apricots, peaches, figs, prunes, and raisins are good sources of iron.

4. Milk and milk products—fluid, evaporated, dried milk, or cheese; 1 pint to a quart. Milk is a rich source of protein, calcium, phosphorus and riboflavin, also a good source of vitamin A and a fair source of iron.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A 72-year-old handyman, walking into one of New York's police stations and turned over to the desk sergeant a woman's handbag containing $28.42, a gold chain and brooch and a bracelet.

The old fellow said he lived at a cheap lodging house around the corner, that he had fifteen cents in his pocket and didn't know where his next dollar was coming from.

The desk sergeant asked him: "What made you bring that bag here? If you had kept it nobody would have been any the wiser for it."

"I know that," said the old man. "But there's something inside of me that won't let me keep it."

Something Inside
Something inside of him, inside of all of us.

It's that something which nobody has as yet defined, that something which has been called conscience, the soul, character, and many other things.

It's that something which makes us know right from wrong, that something which makes us love our children and our parents, that something without which we could not see the wrong of war and despotism and without which we would not fight to death for freedom and a better world.

That something which the Bowery handyman felt inside of him is not based on education or money or power.

I can't explain it myself. I can only feel it. It must be that divine spark with which a baby is so copiously endowed, but which is sense and loses its strength with sophistication and with the disappointments of life.

Can't Be Killed
But weak though that spark may become, it can never quite be killed, as long as there is life in the human being.

You have felt it. Just like the handyman with the 15 cents in his pocket.

You have been on the verge of doing something you knew it was wrong. But you rationalized and used your well cultivated brain to prove to yourself that it was right. And then that "something inside of you" spoke up and told you not to do it. You didn't and you felt the better for it.

All the finer of that handbag for his reward was a hot meal paid for by the police.

No, that is wrong. He got a much greater reward than any human being could have given him.

That "something inside of him" restored something to him something that is so apt to get lost on the Bowery—or on Park avenue.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE POET OF THE PEOPLE

The rut is just a rigid groove. In which the wheels of traffic move. A sunken track from place to place. With nothing left to fear or face. A chartered, beaten, well-worn trail. Where even dulleards cannot fail.

For those who stay the rut within. There's little left to lose or win. The way by men has long been proved. The hazards all have been removed. There's much along the road to please. And one may jog it as his ease.

But, boy, fame lies o'er pathways new. In finding better ways to do. The tasks of life, and reaching out. From beaten lanes to grope through doubt. And search the hazardous unknown. To go it, if you must, alone!

If you are bothered by a dream. If still far off you've caught a gleam. Of something lying far ahead. Beyond the well-worn paths men tread. Then you must blaze yourself the trail.

Nor stop to count the times you fail.

Sift together dry ingredients; add peanut butter and mix in thoroughly with fork. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board; toss lightly until outside looks smooth. Roll out to fit large baking dish; cut slits for steam to escape. Fill baking dish with cooked vegetables and white sauce. Cover with ROYAL biscuit topping. Cut bacon into 12 pieces; place over top. Bake in hot oven at 425° F. about 20 minutes, or until bacon is crisp. A delicious, satisfying meal! Serves 6.

Must Give More McFate States

Decries Lack Of Understanding By Public On Amount Needed By Red Cross

CHAPTER BUDGET MUCH LARGER NOW

In a statement made today Chairman J. R. McFate of the Red Cross war fund drive calls on the people of Lawrence county to give as much as they can possibly afford to in the current campaign for funds, because so much more is needed this year to carry on the work among the men who are fighting for their very lives.

Many people are doubling the amount they gave last year, but many others are too complacent about the matter and are still giving but a dollar.

The total population of Lawrence county is approximately 100,000 persons. This includes more than 3,000 men and women in the armed forces, most of whom contributed in the past, and a vast number of children who are not wage earners and cannot give anything.

With a goal of $152,000 to be raised it means that everyone must give much more than they have given in the past or Lawrence county will fall down in one of the most deserving efforts.

Statement Made

Mr. McFate's statement follows: "Early reports from solicitors in the drive indicate that the people are unanimous in their support of the Red Cross. There are practically no refusals. Indeed it would be impossible to imagine how anyone can refuse an appeal from an organization which is doing the job in this war which the Red Cross is doing."

"But there is still a great lack of understanding among the people in the amount of money that is needed. The customary one dollar contribution, a relic of pre-war days, is still being offered by contributors. The work which the dollar contributions used to finance before the war is but a minor part of the work which the Red Cross is required to do today to save the lives and morale of our men in service. Before the budget of $15,000 or $20,000 for Lawrence county was customary; today the amount needed is $152,000 and this must be raised here if we are to do our fair part in the national goal. This means an average of at least six dollars per family, or an average of at least a half day's pay per worker. Except where the real hardship exists, a one of two dollar contribution is greatly inadequate."

"One hundred and fifty-two thousand dollars is a lot of money, but Lawrence county can and will raise this if each individual contributor realizes his obligation to help save the lives of our boys in the service and maintain their morale under the trying conditions of modern warfare."

CHICKENS

Due to the difficulty of getting meat, a large number of people are raising a few chickens. People usually get a big kick out of keeping chickens. The neighbors usually make a big kick too.

In winter time there is not much complaint about chicken coops.

When warm weather comes, the trouble begins.

It is a pretty hard job to keep a coop clean enough so as not to annoy neighbors in a closely built up part of town.

Perhaps it would be well to think twice before starting to build that coop.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

the railroads, which Mr. Roosevelt has failed to combat. Another is that the Fair Employment Practice Commission, set up by the President under pressure from Negro leaders, has been almost wholly futile, largely through lack of Presidential support. And, finally, there is the very potent fact that the WPA no longer exists to hand out relief money to hundreds of thousands of Negro voters. Nor will it come into existence again before election.

JUST AS among the whites in the South there is deep resentment over the "coddling" of the Negroes by Mr. Roosevelt and the social equality gestures of Mrs. Roosevelt, unquestionably there is resentment among the Negro leaders toward Mr. Roosevelt because, they say, he often has failed to accompany words with deeds and doubts of his sincerity have been instilled. There is also the fact that some of the more powerful of the Negro leaders are distinctly friendly to one or the other of the two Republicans most likely to be Mr. Roosevelt's opponent this time—Governor Dewey or Mr. Willkie. Toward the first there is real Negro gratitude for bringing about the election of Justice Rivers to the City Court Bench in New York, the highest judicial position ever held by a Negro.

TO MR. WILLKIE some very influential Negroes feel indebted for the impassioned plea he made a year or so ago to moving-picture magnates in Hollywood to give the Negro on the screen more "human dignity" and stop picturing him exclusively as a servant or a laborer. Against either of these men, it is asserted, Mr. Roosevelt will not receive anything like the percentage of Negro votes he got in 1936 or in 1940, which has been estimated as high as 90 per cent. The candidacy of either Willkie or Dewey, plus the trend, might easily transfer the bulk of the Negro vote back to the Republicans. And that, from the fourth-term viewpoint, would be serious. Indeed, for the loss would be in the big cities of the big States without which election is not possible. Appreciating these things, it is not surprising that the New York leaders should warn of the danger in the situation.

NO WONDER they urge "prompt and effective" steps. The trouble is to think of the steps. The WPA has been liquidated. Federal patronage has been largely distributed. The Negroes are not interested in the issues, and to meet fully the wishes of the Negro leaders might result in a real revolt in the smoldering and long-suffering South. It is quite a spot for the fourth-termers—and the more practical among them are genuinely concerned. Nor do they care about public discussion of it.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

source of thiamine. Milk contains a small amount of iron which is well utilized. All raw milk should be pasteurized, boiled or used in cooked foods.

Protein Sources

5. Meat, poultry, fish or eggs or dried beans, peas, nuts, or peanut butter; 1 serving of meat, fish or legumes; 3 or 4 eggs a week. These are excellent sources of protein, iron, phosphorus, thiamine, niacin, and riboflavin. Liver, kidney, salmon and eggs supply vitamin A; seafood, iodine. Liver and eggs are sources of vitamin D.

6. Bread, flour and cereals—natural, whole-grain, or enriched or restored. Cereal or bread at each meal. These are low-cost energy foods which are important sources of iron, thiamine, and niacin; also of protein and riboflavin.

7. Butter and fortified margarine (vitamin A added). At each meal. They are concentrated energy foods and excellent sources of vitamin A. Given right foods, the child also needs to want to eat them. I discuss this in my bulletin, "Eating Problems: Their Prevention and Correction," to be had for postage by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My baby is six months old. What is a good way to prepare him to be read to as early as possible?

A. Talk to him, sing lullabies and say nursery rhymes to him as you care for him. As soon as he grows interested in pictures talk about them as he looks, later making up stories about them. Still later show him a beautiful book you have chosen to read from to him, talking about the pictures as he looks at them.

The real "Bluebeard" is considered to have been Gilles de Laval, Baron de Retz, of Brittany, who was burned in 1440. But contrary to the belief of many, his victims were not wives, but more than 30 children whom he had entered into his castle to be sacrificed to the devil.

give more . . . to give freely to your own Red Cross . . . to your own sons in the service.

So give—for this is the year when giving really hits home. Give for the boy who longs to be with you—give to your Red Cross which will reach him for you.

This time dig deep—deeper than ever before. Dig deep and be glad that you can.

Yes, give generously and be glad that Red Cross—your Red Cross—is still the greatest mother in the world and that wherever in the world your boy is

And this year it is your own boys the Red Cross serves . . . Eleven million of them in every land from Sicily to Chungking . . . on every ocean and in every sky.

This year, when you cannot be near your sons, you will give generously and be glad that the Red Cross—your Red Cross—is still the greatest mother in the world.

This year, when the need is greater than ever before—this year you will want to

EVERY year you have given to the Red Cross . . . willingly and with a free heart. You helped us help millions of people . . . when the floods struck . . . when the earthquakes came . . . when famine devastated some far-off land. It was your habit to give . . . the great proud habit of thirty million American families . . . proud that they could give . . . proud of the great Red Cross, that made the giving worthwhile.

But this year it is going to be different.

When you dig into your pockets and purses it won't be just your "regular" contribution. For this year of global war the need is greater than it's ever been before.

The RED CROSS is at his side and the Red Cross is YOU!

adherence to it by this country. He seemed to have in mind that if only we conducted our affairs along the Russian principle, we would be far better off today. In so doing, he ignored the recorded facts which show that under our system, even though we started years after the Soviet government began preparing for war, we had to come to its rescue and supply it with the materials, over a long and dangerous ocean supply line, that its own system was not able to provide.

There have been many reports from men who have observed some of the antics of our economic experts abroad and all of them have given a picture similar to that revealed by Mr. Lavarre. Our little groups of starchy-eyed boondogglers even now are roaming the world, startling the natives of scores of countries and upsetting the economic structures of countless regions. They seemingly are responsible to nobody and they make no accounting to this government of the funds they expend, nor does it seem to be necessary for them to obtain approval of their schemes from responsible officials in Washington. They go blithely around, wasting money, building useless projects, creating dissension and discord in communities where they settle.

Only a short time ago it was revealed that some of these boondogglers propose the expenditure of many millions of dollars for the construction of an oil-pipeline in the Middle East. Congress neither authorized the project nor the expenditure of the money. Nothing was submitted showing the need for the project. Yet, under the guise of war necessities, which seems to justify anything and the sillier it is the more money it calls for the better it seems to this outfit.

In another case, we already have constructed a pipeline through part of Alaska, at a cost of unknown millions—because the final cost has not been computed—that will deliver in one year no more oil than could be delivered by five tankers in one week.

Is this the administration's foreign policy about which it brags and upon which it hangs its hopes for re-election? It is about time the American people were given a balance sheet on these foreign projects, a simple accounting of what they are, what they cost and what they are supposed to accomplish. They need not be covered up with the time-worn excuse of "military secrecy." The Axis agents in these far-flung areas know all about them and from accounts have been received, sometimes much more than our own "experts" know. And they are probably laughing themselves silly over these starchy-eyed world-savers of ours.

lets of drama. Yet this is the manner in which the Congress has viewed the show.

"Did you ever see so much fun around here?" a Capitol guide laughed. "Looks like we need a traffic cop right here in the corridor."

It was indeed fun. Theatrical fun. Not the kind of fun to make an anxious America have faith in its president or his Congress.

I should think it would occur sometime to that soldier in Italy if he ever does find that dry spot to sit down on that Washington today is nothing to write home and ask about.

House Committee Cuts $91,235,065 Off Fund Requests

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—An economy-minded house appropriations committee today reported out a deficiency bill slashing $91,235,065 off the total request of $591,338,813 for new funds by various government agencies.

This represents the largest cut in funds recommended by the house committee this year.

Both the Federal Works Agency and the War Housing Program were trimmed substantially in their demand for money, with the committee pointing out that war housing requirements already "have reached their peak."

Woman Is Badly Beaten By Thug

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(INS)—A 31-year-old mother was dragged into a vacant lot in the Kensington section of Philadelphia today by a stocky thug, stripped of her clothes and beaten so badly that physicians fear she may die.

She is Mrs. Mary Kelly, of Kensington. Physicians said she suffered a broken jaw, severe cuts of the scalp, and a possible skull fracture. During brief moments of consciousness she told police a man accosted her as she returned from visiting a friend, but she was unable to tell them further details.

Seven Children Die In Home Fire

YORK BEACH, Me., March 7.—(INS)—News of the death of her seven children in a fire which destroyed their home was withheld today from Mrs. Roy Rokey, seriously ill in York hospital. The children were burned to death in their sleep last night while their father was at work in the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard.

The victims were Evelyn Rokey, 13; Alice, 11; John, 9; Beatrice, 7; Mary, 4; Franklin, 2; and Dorothy, 11 months.

Republican Trend Shown In Election

WATERTOWN, Mass., March 7.—(INS)—A Republican administration was elected to Watertown today for the first time since Franklin D. Roosevelt was first elected president in 1932.

The vote was unusually heavy for a purely local election; 47 per cent of the registered electorate went to the polls. Republicans captured every major office in what they described as a "national trend."

MAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Charles R. Johnston, of 506 N. Liberty street, was removed to the New Castle hospital, Monday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, in the Fire Department ambulance. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reported today that Johnston was ill and in need of hospital treatment.

of Votvosty, Narkelichi and Volochisk. More than 200 other towns and villages were taken by the victorious Russians.

The great Soviet triumph was pregnant with promise of a complete and early victory in all southern Russia. With their main rail escape line cut, the German troops in the lower Ukraine must now rely on already over-taxed spur lines, poor roads and overland routes mostly through Rumania.

In their retreat toward the Rumanian border the Germans faced the threat that other Russian forces marking time to the southeast of flaming Volochisk front might leap to the attack in a converging drive to form a pocket similar to that of Chernassy in which ten Nazi divisions recently were wiped out.

(The London radio quoted Berlin spokesman last night as saying such an offensive got underway in the Zvenigorodka area, 150 miles southeast of Zukov's last-moving columns.)

At the far northern end of the active eastern front, Tommy-gun wielding infantrymen and hand-fighting riflemen of the Red army moved forward under heavy artillery cover to engage the enemy in the Narva outskirts. During bitter hand-to-hand combat, some 300 Nazis were slain and important "enemy strongpoints" were captured.

L. and what the temperance paper, "The Young Crusader" contributes to the character development of the child. Governor Bricker Sees G.O.P. Victory

Tells Florida Democrats To Vote Republican At Fall Election To Beat New Deal

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Mar. 7.—(INS)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, left with Florida Democrats today an invitation to join with Republicans in elimination of the New Deal.

Gov. Bricker, whose invitation was to Florida and the Democratic "solid south" in general, declared: "There is just one way to oust the New Deal and its attendant bureaucracy, that is through the Republican party here and now in 1944."

"I am firmly convinced that the sentiment of the great majority of the people of the south, like that of the majority in the rest of the country, is against the New Deal."

His invitation, he said, was for all those "who want to return the United States of America to its constitutional form of government, to throw off the shackles of bureaucracy, and to revitalize the state and local governments."

"The hour has struck," he added, "for American citizens to say that America shall again be free from the New Deal one-man bureaucratic control."

Gov. Bricker made addresses before the Florida state Republican executive committee and the Jacksonville Junior Chamber of Commerce, in both of which he predicted a Republican victory in November.

WOMAN TAX COLLECTOR
GROVE CITY, March 7.—Mrs. Harry Shellito has been elected borough tax collector, to fill the unexpired term of her husband who died last week. The action was taken by the borough council, and it is expected that the Board of Education will also name Mrs. Shellito as school tax collector.

Taking advantage of the winter season, borough employees have cleaned and repaired 100 traffic signs, and repaired and re-installed 120 water meters during the past month.

Miss Elizabeth Breslin, Executive Director of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the club in The Castleton, Wednesday, at 12:15 P. M. FRANKFORT, Ky., March 7.—(INS)—Members of Kentucky's General Assembly resigned themselves today to getting along without an extra $300 they had voted themselves for "postage and clerical assistants."

Many Workers In State Temporarily Out Of Employment

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—The state unemployment compensation division revealed today that many workers were temporarily jobless throughout the state despite a "serious shortage" of employees.

The disclosure was made in the aftermath of announcements by the Federal Social Security Board compelling Pennsylvania for expediting jobless benefit claims. Eighty per cent of the cases appealed to the board in the last six months have been decided within 60 days, according to Melvin L. Jacobs, secretary of the board of review.

Job losses, it was pointed out, were caused by cancellation or completion of war contracts, revisions of schedules, concentration of employment in certain areas and physical handicaps.

"It is imperative that persons laid off from the previous work find new employment as soon as possible," the statement asserted, "and to this end the prompt determination of claims and the payment of benefits to those who meet all eligibility requirements assists urgently needed workers in finding new employment."

U. S. Bombers Take Close-up View Of Germany In Raid

LONDON, March 7.—(INS)—Americans are inveterate sightseers. That probably was the impression held today by frightened Germans who ran about of "Little Willie" during the fortress' return trip from bombing Berlin.

"Willie" was damaged over the German capital—and as a result its crew members obtained a close-up view of the enemy countryside while en route back to their British base.

At altitudes ranging from only ten to 100 feet, Flight Officer Benjamin M. Dohp of Old Forge, Pa., several times literally flew down the main streets of German towns on one occasion he narrowly averted disaster, piloting the huge four-engine craft between two steeples.

Crew members who got a much closer look at Germany than they had anticipated included radioman Staff Sgt. Wilson R. Gabel of Parkside, Pa.

High School Student At Pottsville Faces Long Prison Term

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 7.—(INS)—Jerome Brockway, 17, Pottsville high school student, faced a long prison term today after pleading guilty to the murder of Harvey Bresler, 64, Summit Station lumberman, last July 28.

After hearing the youth's plea yesterday, the court announced that it would fix a date later, to hear evidence against Brockway and fix the degree of the crime.

John Romberger, 43, Summit Station farmer, also accused of beating Bresler to death, pleaded not guilty and the selection of a trial jury opened this morning.

The two defendants are charged with having beaten Bresler to death as the aftermath of a feud between the older men and then buried the body in a coal stripping 20 miles from the scene of the slaying.

Police arrested the pair 15 days later after a wide search had been made for the missing lumberman.

"I STOPPED DOSING MY CONSTIPATION A YEAR AGO!"

Says Happy KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN User

If you are still dosing your constipation, don't let to read this unsolicited letter!

"I'd been troubled with common constipation for years. Tried many kinds of medicine for it. Then just about a year ago, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. I ate it regularly, without missing a day. It helped so much, I have not taken one dose of medicine for constipation since, nor have I confined myself to any diet!" Mr. S. P. Loebe, Charleston, Missouri.

Sounds like magic, doesn't it? But, scientists say, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of dietary "cellulosic" elements—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements! They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic content for easy elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't "weep you out!" It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If you have constipation of this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find real relief. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

"Victories call for More and More Materials"—Donald M. Nelson

Never in all history has war been so costly.

Supplies are used up at an astounding rate.

And carrying this equipment and materials in ever increasing quantities is the big job right now for Erie and other American Railroads.

For example: In some campaigns, uniforms wore out in a week... a division used up all its guns in one month's campaign... many troops required new shoes after 3 days of fighting... two divisions engaged in jungle warfare had to be completely re-equipped with almost 1500 new vehicles.

After every victory, occupied territory must be restored to useful purpose. This, too, creates terrific demands for thousands of items of supplies.

Equipment, food, fuel and munitions must reach fighting men in time—must be transported often halfway around the world.

With the continued help of shippers, government agencies and the public, Erie and other American Railroads will not fail your fighting men.

REVEAL EXPLOITS OF U. S. AIRMEN

Two Remarkable Exploits By Fliers In South Pacific
Come To Light

By PAT ROBINSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN ADVANCED SOLOMONS BASE, March 7.—Two remarkable exploits of Americans fighting in the air now may be told.

They concern Lieut. James Cook, of Williamsburg, Iowa, and Charles Merz, of 71-34th street, Glendale, N. Y.

Col. "Light Horse" Harry Wilson, famous football player who today was awarded the distinguished flying cross, insisted that a flight surgeon should examine Lieut. Cook because "only a crazy man would attempt Cook's feat."

The flight surgeon made the examination and pronounced Cook perfectly sane, and Lieut. Gen. William F. Harmon, with tongue in cheek, scolded Cook mildly and gave him a furlough.

It happened this way. Cook's squadron, with a sick pilot took off in the last minute with 11 planes instead of 12, leaving Cook behind.

Went Alone

Cook decided to leave, too, but he had no crew—no bombardier, no navigator, no engineer, no radio man and no gunners. In the dark he warmed up the engines of his Mitchell bomber, got out of the plane, kicked the props away from the wheels, remounted and started down the runway just as Jap five-bombers attacked.

He flew under a curtain of his own anti-aircraft fire. The weather was bad but Cook is a great navigator and he managed to reach the target while the other 11 planes with full crews, failed.

He rode through the anti-aircraft wall and released his own bombs on Rabaul and set his course for home. Ack ack tore a great hole through the empty co-pilot's seat and if he had a co-pilot he would surely have been killed. Cook reached his home base safely.

Making out the usual form report, he listed only his own name under the line marked "crew." An intelligence officer then asked him if he did not know the rules.

With that Cook was forced to reveal he had made the trip to the Japanese stronghold singlehanded. The officer did not believe him until he viewed the empty bomb racks and the hole through the co-pilot's seat.

Lieut. Merz was directing a course through anti-aircraft fire over Rabaul when a piece of ack ack hit him. He did not say anything until directed by the pilot to fly the course homeward, then over the inner-phone he asked somebody to help him.

Bleeding profusely, Merz was given first aid and returned to his post which Gen. Harmon described as an act in the "highest tradition of the American army."

Such a plan, he estimated, would eliminate 30 million full returns.

Doughton reiterated that this and other simplification features now under study would not affect taxes due on March 15.

Phyllis, young daughter of Major and Mrs. R. C. Lutz, of Valley Road, Neshannock township, who has been undergoing treatment for a blood-stream infection in the Deshon hospital, at Butler, was able to be brought home on Sunday. Will Play Leading Roles In Senior High Class Play

Gloria Duff Bonnie Brenneman

The title role in the play, "Junior Miss", which is being produced this week by the June graduating class at the senior high school, will be played by Gloria Duff. Puffy, quite as much of a terror and treasure in her household as Gloria's Judy Graves is in hers, has been assigned to Bonnie Brenneman.

Judy's melodramatic outlook on life derives from her experience with movie plots and her movie-inspired meddling with the lives of adults in the family comes very near being tragic in its results.

Judy and Puffy move in and out of the Graves' apartment living room with the solemn absurdity of 14-year-olds trying to be grownups. There is never a dull moment when those two gremilins are on stage and that is most of the time.

Gloria Duff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Duff of East Moody avenue. Bonnie Brenneman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Brenneman of Edgewood avenue.

American Troops Study Orders Of Gen. Eisenhower LONDON, March 7.—(INS)—American troops today were studying an order from General Dwight D. Eisenhower, calling for self discipline and cooperation with the British. The order, contained in a unique letter addressed to "every American serving under my command," declared it was vital that the troops working with the British "both in the fighting service and in civil life on the basis of mutual respect, consideration and cooperation." This means, he said, that "we must earn and keep their respect as a great military machine dedicated to the single task of doing our duty in winning this war." The letter cautioned against improper use of transportation, drinking in public places, excessive drinking at any time, loud and profane language especially in public, slovenliness in appearance and discourtesy to civilians. Eisenhower asked help of all to see that "a very small minority did not damage the good name of the American army in the United Kingdom." PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(INS)—A sharp increase in juvenile delinquency among girls in the Quaker City was disclosed recently in the annual report of the policewomen's unit of the crime prevention division of the police. Last year 1,365 girls were arrested by Philadelphia police. 1,164 of them taken into custody for their own protection, and the rest charged with burglary, larceny and other violations, according to the report. This represents an increase over the preceding year of 93.4 per cent for girls under 16 and 85.9 per cent for girls between 16 and 20.	British Destroyer Is Reported Lost LONDON, March 7.—(INS)—The British destroyer Inglefield has been lost, the admiralty announced today. The Inglefield was a flotilla leader of 1,330 tons displacement and was built in 1935.	Primitive Methodist Minister Resigns Rev. James Iley, D. D., pastor of the Matland Memorial Primitive Methodist church, has tendered his resignation to his congregation. Dr. Iley's resignation takes effect on May 1. He is held in high esteem by his congregation and his fellow ministers, especially of the south side district. He has held the local pastorate for two years, coming here from Scranton.

Bad Coughs Yield Quickly To This Home Mixture Surprisingly Quick Relief. No Cooking. Saves Money. Here's a medicine for coughs due to colds that you mix in your own kitchen. It's so easy to prepare that a child could do it, but once tried, you'll never again be without it. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—no trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of very wonderful cough syrup. It's thrifty, too—about four times as much for your money. And children take it willingly, because it tastes so good. This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that's surprising. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable agent for soothing throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.	CASH for Income Tax If you're caught short and have an income tax payment to make March 15, why not consider getting a loan to tide you over? Simple and Private Unnecessary borrowing is never wise, but a loan from Personal Finance is often the best solution. Friends and employer are not involved and sensible monthly payments are arranged. YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

NO. 53 CHECKING DELINQUENTS BY INFORMATION AT SOURCE

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has available to it many sources for checking up delinquent taxpayers.

The "information at source" provision of the Internal Revenue Code requires every individual, partnership, or corporation, "in whatever capacity acting," to report to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue (in care of Processing Division, 260 East One Hundred and Sixty-First Street, New York 51, N. Y.), certain payments made to another in 1943 of fixed or determined income on which income tax has not been withheld.

If salaries, wages, and other compensation for personal services are not subject to withholding, payments must be reported on Form 1099, (a) if a total of $500 or more has been paid to a citizen or resident of the United States who is not married or whose marital status is unknown or changes during the year, or to any resident of Canada or Mexico; and (b) if a total of $624 or more has been paid to a married citizen or resident of the United States. The value to the recipient of living quarters or meals which are furnished him in lieu of cash wages must also be included and entered separately in Form 1099.

Where income taxes have been withheld from wages under the pay-as-you-go system, the Form 1099 is not required, but a "Statement of Income Tax Withheld on Wages," or "Employee's Receipt," must be furnished by the employer to each employee on Form W-2 after the end of the taxable year 1943, or after termination of employment and a duplicate must be forwarded to the collector of internal revenue for his information. Form 1099 is also required if interest, rents, premiums, annuities, royalties or other fixed or determinable income totalling $500 or more have been paid to an individual citizen or resident of the United States, a resident fiduciary or a resident partnership any member of which is a citizen or resident.

Fixed or determinable income reportable in Form 1099 is not limited to periodical payments—for even a single payment must be reported if it is either fixed or determinable. Fees for professional services paid to attorneys, physicians, and members of other professions are examples of "fixed or determinable" income. Payments made by a broker to his customers need not be reported for he merely pays his customers that which already belongs to them.

For the purposes of a return of information, an amount is deemed to have been paid, just as much as though it were paid in cash, if it was credited or set apart to the taxpayer without any substantial limitation or restriction as to the time or manner of payment or the condition upon which payment is to be made, and which was made available to him so that he may draw it at any time and its receipt was thus brought within his own control and disposition.

Both domestic corporations (chartered within the United States) and resident foreign corporations are required to make a separate report on Form 1099 of dividends or distributions out of earnings, for each shareholder who is an individual citizen or resident of the United States, a resident fiduciary, or a resident partnership any member of which is a citizen or resident of the United States, if the total for which was paid $100 or more during 1943.

Former Resident Harvard Graduate E. E. Hoyland, of Wilmington Road, has received word of the recent graduation of F. Arthur Johnson, Jr., with the degree of Bachelor of Science from Harvard University, after having completed the required studies in two years and six months. The latter is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Arthur Johnson, of Pearl Avenue, Oil City, formerly of the Eighth ward, this city.

Being a member of the naval P. O. T. C. young Johnson received his commission as ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve, at the time of his graduation. Mr. Johnson, Sr. is a graduate in mining engineering of Pitt University, and was engineer for the Standard Oil Co. for three years, in China, and later in South America. Put taxes on a monthly payment plan You may borrow $25, $50, $100 or more quickly and simply—and repay on the schedule that best fits your own situation. The new policy is to borrow no more than you need, and to repay as rapidly as possible. If you have to make quarterly tax payments in 1944, the 3-payment plan will repay your loan by the time your next tax installment is due. If you have to pay a tax on March 15 only, you may prefer to take somewhat longer to repay your loan. With the choice of loan plans shown in the table below you can budget your taxes in almost any way you prefer.

Rotary Hears Of Red Cross Work

Pharmacist Mate John R. Hodge Tells Club Of Work Done On Bougainville

Pharmacist Mate 1-c John R. Hodge, who recently returned home on leave after spending two months in the front lines of Bougainville, told Rotary Club members at their noon luncheon in The Castleton of the splendid work done by the Red Cross at the front, and urged his hearers to give liberally to the support of the organization in its current drive.

Hodge, who was in a medical corps unit, told of how the Red Cross workers went right into the front lines to give the Marines, who landed there, dry cigarettes and other comforts, and of how they supplied toilet articles and other necessities to the wounded in the hospitals. He also told of how blood plasma, provided by the donors back in this country, saved the lives of many badly wounded men who might otherwise have died of shock had this not been given them promptly.

The meeting was a general business session, and reports were submitted by the chairmen of the various committees.

The attention of the members was called to the Institute of International Understanding which opens on Wednesday evening in the Senior High School, with Don Bolt, author, traveler, and lecturer as the speaker. The Institute will be continued with an address each Wednesday evening throughout March.

James And Rhodes File On Both Parties For State Court

By JOHN PAGET (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, March 7.—Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James and Chester H. Rhodes apparently were intent today upon raising voting ranks in the primary election by seeking the nominations of both major parties April 25.

James, former Republican governor who was re-appointed to the appellate court February 8, filed his candidacy in the Democratic primary yesterday after he had been entered in the Republican primary. Rhodes, endorsed by the Democratic state committee for other 10-year term, earlier filed nomination petitions as a candidate on both major tickets.

State election laws permit judicial candidates to file in either primary regardless of party affiliation. Two $18,000-a-year superior court seats are at stake this year.

Retiring Auditor General F. Clark Ross, Democrat, and Armstrong County Common Pleas Judge Frank Gaff, Republican, stated their parties for the appellate court did not cross party lines.

LOANS TO PAY INCOME TAXES

A message to the person who has been unable to save sufficient money to pay his income taxes on March 15

Sales Run To Million-Share
Pace In Early Market
Dealings Today

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS)—The stock market rallied fractions to more than a point today, with sales running at a million share pace in early dealings.

Good buying was in evidence right at the opening, and the list moved steadily higher under leadership of rubbers, Goodyear and U. S. Rubber were the individual favorites, both up over a point at one time.

Chemicals and communications came in for their share of the buying, although gains in the latter group were generally fractional. DuPont rose over a point on a higher earnings report, while American Telephone and Western Union both hit new year's highs on small advances.

Holding firm with fractional advances were the steels, aviation, motors, oil and liquors. Rails were quiet but steady, while utilities were mixed and narrow.

On the curb, United Gas was the big feature, dropping over a point on the recapitalization plan announced late yesterday.

Bonds were quiet and little changed.

From Sweet Shop to Town Meeting

OVER a soda or a "coke", young America is planning strategy to win the war; to make the prom a success; to elect Russ Gray class president.

Youth learns early to have a critical viewpoint on matters affecting the world, the nation and themselves. So when they look at the railroad, they'll see a giant supply line "feeding" their community with food, fuel, raw materials and many other things. They'll see passenger trains as a modern, convenient means of reaching nearly every community of the nation. They'll appreciate the vision and the progressiveness that promise even finer rail services for the future.

Mobilized for war, we, of the Baltimore & Ohio, are planning now to meet America's peace-time service needs. Over the 11,000 miles of B & O track, new methods of operation will cut shipping and travel time. Passengers will find new enjoyment... new comforts... in rail travel. The B & O will be well-equipped and willing to serve the busier, modern world ahead... planned with the help of young America.

Women Doing Manual Work

Seventeen Million Working Women Aiding At Many Hard Jobs In War

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—When Johnny comes marching home he is going to find that it takes more than muscles and a he-man act to impress his ever-loving wife.

Chances are that during his absence she has been rivalling his peevishness with strength and endurance as a repair operator, bakemaker, "sollemaker's" helper, truck driver or machinist.

Of about seventeen million working women in the United States more than half are pitching in to take their men's places in industry. When it comes to hard labor they ask no quarter.

Need New Alibis

Postwar husbands will have to think up a better alibi than the hard day at the plant to get out of taking the little woman to a movie or having the neighbors in on the bridge.

The increasing scarcity of draft deferments and the accelerated draining of available manpower has opened an entirely new type of work to women and they have made good on an "epochal" scale.

The assembly line has brought almost every industrial job within the limits of a woman's physical strength and technical knowledge. The industrial jobs which were considered beyond the range of a woman's physical and temperamental equipment are being handled competently by them; in many cases more competently than by the men who were replaced.

Women are successfully operating diesel engines, working in steel mills and shipyards, servicing and flying planes. Their new jobs are both tough and dangerous and carrying great responsibility.

The government is so well satisfied with the work women have done in understaffed fish canneries that plans are underway to send them to Alaska for the brief and busy canning season there.

Suited To Women

Certain types of mechanical work requiring deftness and precision have been found to be better suited to women than to men. Some machine shops are now manned entirely by women except for jobs requiring the lifting of heavy objects.

The early stages of women's conquest of industry was marked by a sharp increase in the industrial accident rate. Hasty and inadequate training courses were partly to blame and unsuitable working clothes or coiffures caused many needless mishaps.

Experience has remedied these early defects.

Women work outdoors in scorching heat and in sub-zero weather alike with apparently no bad physical effects. They do such formerly masculine jobs as sandblasting, welding and the "dressing" of railroad tracks.

The government factory workers in ammunition leading plans are more than two-thirds women.

Women doing manual work have proved that they can take it and they can turn it out. Seventeen million women are discovering that the Amazons had something there.
